SPRINKLINGS.

SCARCITY OF SILVER.—The press is making quite a mystery concerning the present scarcity in the United States of this medium of trade. No doubt the fact exists, and silver at this time is scarce; but the cause is obvious, it arising from the demand and consequent exportation of this metal to Europe.—Silver is in greater requisition than U. S. gold for the payment of American liabilities across the ocean, for the simple reason that it is worth some six per cent more, because of the adulteration the latter coin was subjected to under the administration of President Jackson, founded on the silly idea that it would serve to keep the precious currency at home.

☞ It is said that the Secretary of the Navy has decided, after all, to send the Pennsylvania ship of the line instead of a store ship, to the World's Convention about to meet in London.

A FASHIONABLE WEDDING took place at Albany last week, and it is stated that the wedding presents which the bride received, were valued at near eight thousand dollars!

RECEPTION OF SENATOR DOWNS.—Senator Downs was received in New Orleans with great rejoicing. A salute of one hundred guns was fired on the occasion.

The Rights of Married Women was the subject before the Indiana Constitutional Convention on the 14th. Robert Dale Owen made a brilliant speech before a brilliant audience. The propositionis not only to apply the full right of separate property to women hereafter married, but those also who are now married, on application conjointly with the husband.

"As an incident of the season," one of the Boston papers announces that during the past four days, nearly eighty intentions of marriage certificates have been issued from the registrar's office in that city, and the number for the entire week will run up to over one hundred—a larger number than for any previous week since the registrar's office was established.

A WELSH NEWSPAPER, the name of which is Y Drich, has been commenced in New York. There is a nervousness in the diction which thrills the reader. The following is its motto, which is remarkably telling:—"Addarlleno, ystyried; a ystyrio, cofiod; a gofiie, gofie, gwnaed; a wnel, parhaed."

At a Temperance Celebration lately held in Charleston, it is stated Judge Lumpkin in his address lifted the audience from their feet and held them suspended at will." The Carolinians are certainly a wonderful people.

C. A. Peabody, the agricultural correspondent of the Columbus Enquirer, speaking of some choice specimens of chickens, says: "Barring any accident, we will exhibit some at the fair, that can stand upon the ground and eat corn from the head of a flour barrel, and that without standing tiptoe, or much ruffling the neck feathers."

During the last ten years 15,000 houses have been built in New York, and the population increased 140,000. There is an average of about 9¼ persons to a house. The common average of space for houses and lots, is 17 houses to an acre of ground—this would show that, in ten years, New York has covered 882 acres of land with houses.

PARDONED.—We learn that on the strength of a petition from this place, Gov. Manly has pardoned the negro Stephen, convicted of burglariously entering the store of Mr. G. W. Carver; and stealing therefrom money and articles. The negro has since been sold and sent out of the State.—Fay. Car.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29, 9 P. M.

There is some difficulty between England, Spain and the United States, which calls for the highest exercise of diplomatic talent, statesmanship and forecast, on the part of our Secretary of State, Mr. Webster. DAILY ISSUE.

Tuesday Morning, Dec. 3rd.

THE "STANDARD"—THE COMPROMISE.

We made a passing allusion in our last to the inconsistency of the above print on the great question of the day. Since then we have been able to give its last issue a more attentive perusal than we could then find leisure to bestow upon it. It is positively amusing to see, throughout its columns, how lustily the Editor calls on others to define their position, at the very time his own feet are slipping from under him, or his head is enveloped in a cloud of uncertainty and contradiction. He evidently proves by his restiveness on the subject of slavery, that he has no confidence in his own position—if he has determined as yet to take any. Ask him, for instance, whether he intends submitting to the Compromise, as the law of the land? He responds "we can neither "willingly" nor "heartily" support this so called Compromise!" It is presumed to be a matter of very little importance whether he intends supporting it heartily and willingly or not! The question is, "does he intend to stand by the Compromise as it is?" If so, then we understand each other—we go together, and we can resist with unanimity any assaults which may hereafter be made on our rights and peace. But if we start out with a determination not to submit to the Compromise, but to agitate, and agitate, for the repeal of that, or any part of it, there is, so far, no such thing as unanimity amongst us, and with what grace really can we call on other sections to obey a part of that Compromise, when in the same breath, we announce our purpose to carry on war against other parts of it? This is a plain question.

We beg leave to answer the Editor of the "Standard" out of his own mouth on one point. In his last, he publishes the letter of Mr. Buchanan to the Philadelphia meeting. He praises it highly, and declares that "he (Mr. B.) is as sound on this vital question as we could desire him to be." Well, stick a pin there! "Sound" is he? "Great letter" is it? The very idea itself, beyond all doubt, we presume. Now, we have read no letter or speech, from any man, during this whole conflict of opinions and passions, which breathes a more uncompromising spirit of attachment to the Union, than this very identical letter of Mr. Buchanan. We are glad the "Standard" has published it. Perhaps, it may have a tendency to bring back to right reason, some of his readers, who have been drawn or led from their true feelings for the Union, by the Editor's praises of those who would break up that Union, rather than submit to the Compromise. What does he say (and if we are not mistaken the Standard once held him up, as a favorite for the Presidency) on the subject of the Compromise?

"THE HONOR OF THE SOUTH HAS BEEN SAVED BY THE COMPROMISE. THE WILMOT PROVISO IS FOREVER DEAD, and slavery will never be abolished in the District of Columbia whilst it continues to exist in Maryland. The receding storm in the South still continues to dash with violence, but it will gradually subside, should agitation cease in the North.

"The honor of the South has been saved by the Compromise!" The "Standard" endorses this, does it! Mr. Buchanan is "sound," and he says so, and of course, it is all right! Well, this is exactly what we have said, and it is because "the honor of the South has been saved by the Compromise," that we are for submitting to it, provided it is carried out in good faith at the North. Take another extract:

"I now say that the platform of our blessed Union is strong enough and broad enough to sustain all true-hearted Americans. It is an elevated, a glorious platform, on which the down-trodden nations of the earth gaze with hope and desire, with admiration and astonishment. Our Union is a star in the West, whose genial and steadily increasing influence will, at last, should we remain a united people, dispel the gloom of despotism from the ancient nations of the world. Its moral power will prove to be more potent than millions of armed mercenaries. And shall this glorious star set in darkness before it has accomplished half its mission? Heaven forbid! Let us all exclaim with the heroic Jackson, "The Union must and shall be preserved."

This is sound doctrine, patriotically and eloquently said! Glad to see the Editor of the "Standard" proclaiming with Mr. B. in imitation of the "heroic Jackson," that "the Union must and SHALL be preserved!" We hope to have his energetic pen and stalwart arm on the side of those who go for the Union, against fanaticism, whether it shews itself at the North, in resistance to the Fugitive Slave law, or at the South, in secession, or resistance to other parts of the Compromise.

But again, from the letter of Mr. B.—

"They (the South) will at last, I trust and believe, submit to all the provisions of the Compromise, provided the fugitive slave law be faithfully executed in the North; but they will go no further. All the resolutions, even of the Union meetings in the South, speak this language. Future aggressions must cease, or the Union will be in imminent danger.

This is what we have said over and often. Does the Editor of the "Standard" "TRUST and believe" the South will submit to all the measures of Compromise? If so, why is he endeavoring to create hostility to it, and those who openly and above board sustained it? Is this honest? Is it not, at least, disingenuous?

With these facts staring him in the face—with this unqualified approval of Mr. B's letter, the Editor of the "Standard," in the very next paragraph, lauds and sanctions the speech of Mr. Shepard, in which secession was openly advocated, and not the least acceptable part of that speech to the Editor's taste, was the denunciation (to use his characteristic language) of "the so-called Compromise."

We leave it with others to say, what consistency there is in all this. The truth is, and we intend to expose it, the Editor of the "Standard" has been playing a disingenuous game on this subject for some time. He calls with stentorian lungs on the President to execute the Fugitive Slave Law, whilst at the same time he seeks, covertly, to excite prejudice against other parts of the Compromise at the South. He denounces Clay for urging upon the People to stand by that measure, and sustain the Union, when he has nothing to say against Cass, who thinks and acts with him. He praises Buchanan as 'sound' to the core, whilst, in the next breath, he will endeavor to bring into disrepute a Whig who entertains and expresses similar sentiments. He doubts all who have heretofore differed from him politically, and does all he can to weaken the arm of the government, at this very conjuncture, when all its power and influence, moral and civil, are necessary to secure an enforcement of the laws. Shall such inconsistency, such miserable diningenuousness, such double-dealing, be longer tolerated, remain longer unmasked? He expects to make political capital out of this whole subject. His object is to put down Whigs and put up Democrats. He has no desire that we should be united, as one man, in this contest. If he has, why such conduct? The Compromise has become the law of the land. We are for supporting it—submitting to it—sustaining the Government, if it carries out and maintains those laws; but if the North will not abide by that Compromise, but repeals or nullifies the Fugitive Slave Law, and resumes its assaults upon our rights and peace, we are for taking to most firm, decided, and effectual steps, adopting the most prompt measures to repel the assaults and check all encroachments upon us. When the alternative comes, it will be left for the People, through their Representatives, to say, what those measures shall be—what steps will be most prudent and effectual, This is our platform. Has the "Standard" any at all? It praises Mr. Venable—is it for his policy? It extols Mr. Clingman! Does it think with him? It has nothing to say against those at the South who are for disunion, now! Is it with them? But it turns right round and lauds to the skies Buchanan and his letter. Will it stand by this? Dallas, too, is 'sound.' Does it subscribe to his sentiments as expressed in his Speech at Philadelphia? What is it for? We dont ask who it is for? That is too plain. It is for Democrats and against Whigs—and whilst it has much to say in derogation of the latter, who supported the Compromise, it is quite soft upon, or entirely silent about, the long list of Democrats who also supported it in Congress, and are now struggling with all their ability to sustain it against secession and disunion at the South, and infuriated fanaticism at the North. Party—PARTY—PARTY is the evil genius which guides this organ of North Carolina Loco Focoism. And are good men, (Whigs or Democrats,) to be duped by such allegiance to party, instead of Country? Let all who are resolved to stand by the laws as they are, and drive back encroachments upon our rights, unite and act together, irrespective of all party ties, and they will save the South, and save the Union too! But if they listen to the "Will o' the wisp" slang of the Editor of the "Standard," they will find, when they get ready to carry out the doctrine of secession, that they will find more traitors to hang under Mr. Shepard's resolution, than they will find victors to do the execution!

GEN. HARLEE'S ADDRESS.

Gen. Harlee's address to the members of the Legislature, and others, in the Commons Hall, on Saturday evening, in behalf of the Wilmington and Manchester R. Road, of which he is President, gave universal satisfaction. He earnestly insisted that all that the section of South Carolina, which he represented, desired, was an outlet for the products of their lands now tied up at home, for want of a means of transportation to market, and that end gained, there was no doubt but that North Carolina would reap all the commercial advantages, which must necessarily accrue from having so heavy an amount of foreign and domestic produce poured into the Port of Wilmington, over and above its present trade. Gen. H. showed conclusively, that while this road could not, by any possibility, inflict any injury upon us, it must necessarily be productive of much benefit, by enhancing the value of the State works, already built, and in progress, and also by the increased value, both in price and productiveness, of the lands in the Counties through which it will pass, on this side the line. His remarks were all based upon calculations, made apparently with great care and accuracy, and in the impressive language of figures, appealed strongly and convincingly to the minds of his audience. Gen. H. presented it farther as a Southern measure, touching lightly, but impressively, upon the point that however matters might hereafter eventuate, it behooved us all, as bound by one common tie, one distinctive interest, to see that we were in a position to command our entire resources.

After gracefully returning thanks for the kindness and attention shown him, with expressions of regard and good will, both for himself and those he represented, Gen. H. retired amid the applause of the audience.

☞ B. CRAVEN, Esq., one of the Editors of the EVERGREEN—a literary periodical of much merit, published at Ashboro', in this State—is at present in this City, for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions. We commend Mr. C. and his enterprise to the kindest reception at the hands of all, who feel any interest in the elevation of the standard of our State literature. Now is the time to encourage such laudable efforts as Mr. C. is making to that end.

☞ Mrs. WOOD, the charming Magician and Necromancer, fairly electrified her audience on Saturday evening last, by her astonishing performances, and by the beauty of her hand and foot. In one thing, only, was she thought to have been excelled, and that was by the gallant Brigadier, who lent her the support of his countenance upon the occasion; who, it seems, chewed twice as much Tow as she did—from which, the lady drew a string so long, that many of his brethren of the House of Commons began to tremble in their shoes, for fear least it might be the "thread of a discourse." Success to the fair Enchantress!

MURDER IN JOHNSTON.

We learn that WILLIAM SMITH, Sr., of Johnston County, somewhat noted for his miserly habits, was killed on Friday night last, by one of his negro women. The circumstances are these: Smith left this City, on Friday morning last, with the woman in custody, having taken her out of jail here, where she had been lodged as a runaway. On reaching home, and releasing her, she snatched up an axe lying by and struck him several blows over the head, until she dispatched him.—The woman has been arrested and lodged in Smithfield Jail.

Col. JACOB HIATT, of Greensboro,' is at present in this City, and is staying at the City Hotel.

☞ We are requested to call attention to the Card of Dr. BASON in our advertising columns.

☞ We are curious to see what effect the recent result in GEORGIA will have upon the Disunionists in South Carolina, and the adjoining States. So clear a repudiation of Disunionism by a state like Georgia, shows that the disorganizers cannot hope for succor from their neighbors, in their contemplated movements. Georgia will not lead, nor will she follow, in the unholy cause of dismemberment of the Republic. At the same time, Georgia is and will be, true to her own honor, and to the rights of the South. May her example, in this matter, have its proper effect, every where. May the South stand by the Union, and may the Northern Disunionists be driven into shame and silence!

STATE LEGISLATURE.

Mr. Bower also gave notice of petitions of like effect.

Mr. Thomas from the committee on Internal Improvement, reported the bill concerning the Wilmington and Manchester Railroad, with amendments. The report and amendments were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Thomas introduced a bill to incorporate the Tennessee River Railroad company, with a capital of $1,000,000; which passed its first reading and was referred to the committee on Internal Improvement.

Mr. Woodfin introduced a bill to divide the School fund according to the white population.

Mr. Shepard moved its reference to the committee on Education. (A debate sprung up here between Messrs. Shepard, Woodfin, Gilmer, Bond, Joyner, Lillington and Kelly, on the question of reference, which, as it did not involve the merits of the bill, we deem it unnecessary to report.)

The ayes and noes were called for by Mr. Woodfin; and, being taken, were, ayes 34; noes 13.—So the bill was referred to the committee on Education.

The special order of the day, being the bill to provide for calling a convention, was taken up, and, on motion of Mr. Woodfin, postponed until Wednesday next at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Bynum introduced a resolution that the Clerk cause to be printed for the use of the members of the Senate the list of the committees of this House, and joint committees.

On motion of Mr. Thomas, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

December 2nd, 1850.

The House Journal having been read,

Mr. Waugh presented a Memorial praying to repeal the Act laying off a certain road through parts of Wilkes and Forsythe.

Mr. Williams of Mecklenburg, a Memorial from Officers and Soldiers of the 69th Regiment, N. C. Militia, praying the repeal or amendment of the law of 1848–'9, exempting persons of the age of 35 from Military duty. Referred to Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Ruffin, a Bill for the incorporation of the town of Madison. Referred.

Mr. Person, of Northampton, a Bill for the incorporation of the Garysburg and Oconeechee Plank Road Company. Read and passed the first time, and referred to Committee on Internal Improvements.

Mr. Dargan presented a series of resolutions, which were read and referred to the Committee on Negro Slavery.

The Speaker announced the following Committee, on the part of the House, to visit and report upon the condition of the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, viz: Messrs. Avery, Hill of N. H., Montgomery, Jerkins, and ———

Mr. Cherry introduced a Bill exempting from taxation certain lands of citizens of North Carolina. Ordered to be printed.

The Speaker presented the Report of W. D. Cooke, Principal of the Deaf and Dumb Institute.

Mr. Leach introduced a series of resolutions, which were referred to the Committee on Negro Slavery. (These resolutions authorize the Governor, in event of the repeal or modification of the Fugitive Slave Law, to convene the Legislature immediately.)

Mr. Fleming introduced a Bill for calling a Convention to amend the Constitution of the State.

(This bill directs the Governor to cause Polls to be opened, in order to ascertain the sense of the People as to the necessity of holding a Convention to amend the Constitution of the State. The returns must be made to the Governor, and opened, before the 1st of September 1852; whereupon the Governor, if they be favorable to the calling of a Convention, shall issue his Proclamation for the election of Delegates, to take place in November next. The Delegates, so elected, shall assemble in Convention, in Raleigh, on the 2nd Monday in January, 1850, with full and unlimited authority to make such alterations in the State Constitution as their wisdom may suggest.)

Mr. McLean moved the reference of this Bill to the Committee on Amendments to the constitution. Mr. Fleming objected, upon the ground that it was an isolated proposition, of itself, to call a Convention, and that the Committee, to whom reference was proposed to be had, were only entrusted with the consideration of any specific amendments to the constitution that might be suggested.

A long discussion—simply upon the question of reference and not at all involving the merits of the question—here ensued, and was participated in by Messrs. McLean, Fleming, Stevenson, Avery, Foster, of Davidson, Ruffin, Jones, Blow, Erwin, Rayner, Cherry, Caldwell, Leach, Brogden and Walton.

The question being on the motion of Mr. McLean to refer to Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, it was carried in the affirmative by a vote of Ayes 70; Nays 45.

The House then adjourned.

The President's Message.

Through the efficient arrangements of the Post Office department, aided by the Telegraph, we were placed in possession of this document shortly after it was delivered to the two houses of Congress, on yesterday.

It is a strongly written and able paper though much more brief than many of its predecessors. The President opens with a reference to the melancholy dispensation which elevated him so suddenly to the chief magistracy, with an explanation why he did not at that time enter upon an exposition of the principles which would guide him in his administration. He then enters in detail upon a review of the general subjects which may be presented to him. His principles of public policy inculcate the duty of a strict neutrality in foreign wars, the cultivation of friendly relations with other powers and the strict observance of treaty obligations.—While the Constitution is his guide in all questions of domestic policy, he regards all its provisions as equally binding. In all its parts it is the will of the people, expressed in the most solemn form, and the constituted authorities are but agents to carry that will into effect. Every power which it has granted is to be exercised for the public good; but no pretence of utility, no honest conviction, even, of what might be expedient, can justify the assumption of any power not granted.—The powers conferred upon the Government and their distribution to the several departments, are as clearly expressed in that sacred instrument as the imperfection of human language will allow; and he deems it his first duty, not to question its wisdom, add to its provisions, evade its requirements, or nullify its commands.

Upon the subject of his duty to enforce laws which may be obnoxious to some section, while beneficial or necessary to the well being and security of another, we have the assurance that he will not shrink from its performance. He says, 'you, gentlemen, and the country may be assured, that to the utmost of my ability, and to the extent of the power vested in me, I shall, at all times, and in all places, take care that the laws be faithfully executed. In the discharge of this duty, solemnly imposed upon me by the

In the discharge of this y imposed upon me by the Constitution, and by my oath of office, I shall shrink from no responsibility, and shall endeavor to meet events as they may arise, with firmness, as well as with prudence and discretion.'

He then enters upon a review of our foreign relations, which are pronounced to be in a happy and prosperous condition. The reports of the heads of Department are next noticed. The report of the Secretary of the Treasury shows the receipts into the Treasury for the year ending the 30th of June last to be $47,421,748.90, and expenditures for the same time $43,002,168,90 while the public debt has been reduced $495,276,79.

While in favor of the policy of raising a large portion of the public revenue from duties on imports, the President is opposed to a high tariff. He recommends a modification of the present tariff by the substitution of specific for ad valorem duties, by which the objects of revenue might be accomplished at the same time that domestic industry would be protected, without the exclusion of foreign competition. The ad valorem system, moreover, has been the gateway of numberless frauds upon the revenue which call loudly for reform and correction. The Reports from the War and Navy departments exhibit a gratifying efficiency in each of those branches of service. We are compelled to omit a notice of the various recommendations made by the President for the reform and increased usefulness of those arms of our national defence and protection. We are pleased to find a recommendation from the Post Master general for a reduction of inland postage to three cents the single letter, when prepaid and 5 cents when after paid, with a proposition to reduce the prepaid rate to 2 cents when the receipts of the Department can bear it.

Upon the question of Internal Improvement by the general Government, the President is satisfied of its constitutionality, which is derived from the the power of regulating commerce with foreign nations and between the States, and the power of laying and collecting imposts. The improvements upon the Mississippi and the lakes seem to fall within this power and the inference is to be drawn that he would not interpose his veto when the interests of those vast bodies of water were involved.

The Message approaches its conclusion, with a brief glance at the series of measures passed at the last session of Congress, known as the Adjustment Bills.

To this portion of the message we have looked forward with great anxiety. The perils with which we are surrounded, the dangers with which we are threatened, the imminent danger to the Union, growing out of the disregard of all legislative enactments; give to the opinions of the President upon the Fugitive Slave Law, an importance we cannot over estimate. And we confess to a slight of disappointment that he has only referred in general terms of satisfaction to those measures of Compromise, without expressing in the decided terms we could have wished to hear, his views and determinations with regard to the only one which is of the slightest interest to the South. Still we will not hazard a doubt of his fidelity to the Constitution or to the South, while we have his emphatic declaration, before quoted, that he will perform his duty; and must for the present be content with his apparent belief that those measures are of too recent existence, to have overcome at once this obstinacy of long settled hostility, and hope with him that time and experience will destroy the opposition and remove all obstacles to the execution of the laws of the land. Our faith in Mr. Fillmore is undiminished, and we have no fear that the law will be a dead letter in his hands. His emphatic declaration quoted above, that he will discharge his duty at all hazards, confirms our faith, and we will patiently await the fuller development of his policy, before we will consent to abandon the cherished belief that he is the man for the country and the crisis.

EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.

It has been suggested, that at the Industrial Convention, proposed to be held in Raleigh, a Convention of the Friends of Education be held at the same time.

We learn that the proposition meets favor with the learned Faculty at the University, and at Wake Forest College. Will not members of the Legislature friendly to this cause lend their aid?

If the means now being used to develope the resources of our State, in a physical point of view, should finally fail, let us rally to the rescue and make her the Athens of the South.

Will not Prof. Owen prepare a circular, drawing the immediate attention of our citizens to this project?

So highly are its Fire proof qualities appreciated in Akron, Ohio, where it is best known, that all the Insurance Companies have published that they will Insure Buildings well covered with it at a much lower premium than those covered with Tin or Zinc, as it has been tried in several fires there and stood much longer than either. "WHOEVER DARE THESE 'BOOTS' DISPLACE, MUST MEET BOMBASTES, FACE TO FACE."

Alfred Mitchell, alias "BOOTS," for short, and by way of dignity, respectfully informs his numerous customers, that he has recently fitted up his Establishment, in the best style, and is now thoroughly prepared to carry on his business as BARBER, just "as it used to was," with the exception that he thinks he has improved by practice both in skill and manners.

The Members of the approaching Legislature, and my old customers especially, of that body, will always find me ready to shave, and trim hair, in the quickest, easiest, and most fashionable manner; and if any should prefer the old fashoin, "Boots" will be entirely agreeable, and conform to the tastes and wishes of his customers.

On application, Ladies and Gentlemen can have their Hair curled most elegantly, according to the prevailing fashions.

No reference is made to particular gentlemen—my qualifications must be judged of by the community which I have served in my line of business, for a number of years.

Hair will also be cleared of dandruff, and if requested, dyed any coler, to suit the costomers.

My establishment is on Fayetteville Street, within two doors of Yarbrough's New Hotel.

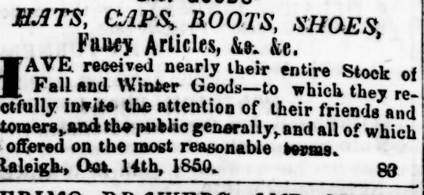
Southern Home Manufactory.



RALEIGH, N. C.

MUCH has been said in Congress, by Southern members, about the rights of the South—This community and surrounding country now have an opportunity of patronizing their own merchants and those who make up gentlemen's wearing apparel, by calling at the Proprietor's new Establishment, opposite the Post office.

The Preprietor, having made the SCIENCE of cutting Gentlemen's fashionable clothing his study, in the most fashionable Cities, for many years, is now prepared to give satisfaction to all who may want their clothing made. Gentlemen furnishing cloth and trimmings, will thus give employment to many in the City of Raleigh.

Those who only wish their garments cut shall have them warranted to fit, and at moderate prices. Gentlemen's garments altered and repaired at the shortest notice.

The New York and Philadelphia Fashions for the Fall and Winter just received.

PRESERVED GINGER, just received by
L. B. WALKER.

The "Bug" also at Home again.

I HAVE just returned the second time from Boston, N. York, and Philadelphia, having spent nearly all of August and September in said Cities, getting up our CLOTHING, every article of which was cut by himself, and made up under my own inspection; and I presume there is no one in North Carolina now, who would be verdant enough to question my capacity after the eloquent tribute paid to my 'artistic skill, in our last Superior Court, by Judge, Counsel on both sides, witnesses and Jurors. I refer to the case of "Biggs vs. Oliver"—action for damages, in which I had to pay $250, in consequence of my extended reputation.

Come in, if you please, and assist me in paying off the judgment by buying our goods. Who is there in North Carolina, who has not heard of the Hon. George E. Badger, the Hon. Wm. H. Haywood, Jr., and 'Bug' Oliver, Why 'their fame is no more to be hemmed in by State lines than their talents are to be circumscribed within the same narrow limits.'

We are connected, as all our customers know—and if they don't know it, they may—with no Northern House—but we are Tailors ourselves—buy our own goods, and import quite as many of what we purchase in proportion to our business, as any house in this State or out of it. There is no establishment here or elsewhere that possesses any advantage over us. We buy where every body else buys, and we think we understand our business and buy as cheaply. We say our clothing is equal to any offered for sale in North Carolina, and, we think superior, being Judges ourselves of clothing. Of that though, we will leave the public to decide, when they examine for themselves. One thing is certain—without intending to reflect upon any one—we will sell our clothing cheaper than the same articles can be bought for in any of the Northern Cities, and as cheap as any body that comes here, who does not steal his clothing ready made

Our stock embracing Drab, Black, Blue, Green, Gray, and other OVERCOATS from 6 to $20 and upwards. Cloaks, full circle, $18 upwards. Frock, dress, and Sack COATS from 7 to $12 and upwards. PANTALOONS, all colors and prices, from $4 to $4. VESTS, all kinds and all sizes, at all prices from $1,25 to $5. In fact, every thing that can be found in any similar establishment in the Union.

We are North Carolinians. We are permanently located here, and if we sell as cheap as others, why not give us the preference? If we do not sell as good goods at as small a price, we will not ask your patronage.
